

THE SAFEST WALKING ROUTE FROM THE HOTEL TO THE BEACH

Although this is not the most direct route down to St Ouen's beach from the hotel, it is the safest and easiest and offers spectacular views of the bay.

PLEASE BEWARE OF THE TIDES –

We are said to have the third-largest tides in the world, so please check a tide table before exploring the coastline!

Please note: On high tides greater than 31 feet / 9.2 metres, the beach at St Ouen's is completely submerged.

Mileage: 0.75 miles / 1.2 kilometres to get there

Time: 15 Minutes

Elevation range: 150 feet / 45 metres

Bus Route: 12 (to St Helier) and 22 (to St Helier) can be caught at a number of stops along the bay. The closest one and immediately below the hotel is marked on the timetable as La Pulente N.

Leave the hotel, and make your way to the main road, Le Mont de la Pulente. Cross over into Parcq de L'Oeilliere and turn right (the road has 'No Entry' marked on it). Follow the road through the estate and take the second right.

Walk on beyond the tarmac, soon we are on the headland that separates Petit Port from St Ouen's Bay and a great panoramic view of the other islands can be seen to your right. Follow the track ahead for 75 meters, upon reaching a 'crossroads', with paths ahead and to each side, turn right and descend through a wooden barrier towards the broad sandy sweep of St Ouen's Bay. Look out for a tree about three-quarters of the way down! When the steps reach a gravel path, cross over and follow a narrow path that runs below the road.

Some way along the path, go down the granite steps on the left. When these emerge onto tarmac, turn left and make your way towards the beach. Walk down the slipway onto the beach.

If you do not fancy walking back, a bus can be caught at a number of stops along the bay. The closest one immediately below the hotel is marked on the timetable as La Pulente N.

Bus Route:

22 (to St Helier)

There are a number of stops along the bay, get on to the bus on the opposite side of the road from the beach and ask for The Atlantic Hotel. <https://www.libertybus.je/timetables/22>
